

We Build Places You Want to Go™

From the President

We were sitting around the office last year talking about some of our recent projects, when someone said, "We build places you want to go."

I immediately thought, what a great marketing slogan! In fact, I liked it so much DCG is now the proud owner of its first trademark.

Clyde's on Church has now been added to our list of places you want to go. At Clyde's on Church, you can eat great food and also play ping pong, shuffleboard, and football. Without a doubt, this is a place "you want to go." The smoked chicken wings, bison meatloaf, and kale salad are fantastic. Also, look for the murals hand painted by Jasper Patch, a well-known NYC street painter.

Hope to see you there soon!

Olym Dowdle, President
Dowdle Construction Group

You'll want to go to Clyde's on Church!
At DCG, we love it when owners re-purpose vintage buildings. Monen Family Restaurant Group has another home run with the opening of Clyde's on Church in Midtown Nashville. Mike and Taylor Monen are well-known in Nashville and Chattanooga for Taco Mama's, Community Pie, Milk and Honey and Clyde's on Main. Now you can go to Clyde's on Church, located at 1700 Church Street, which was completed by DCG in March.

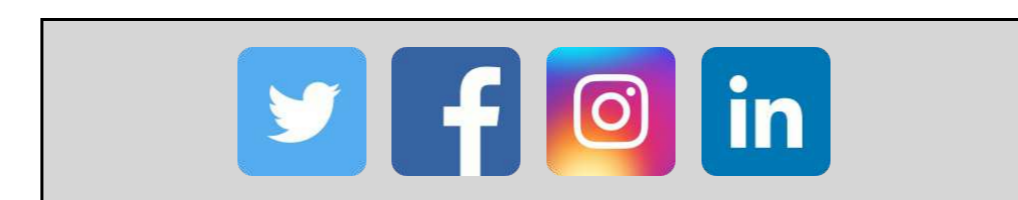

Most recently, the building housed Chris Moore Plumbing Supply for several decades. When originally built in the early 1900's, a bank occupied the first floor. Remnants of the terrazzo floor can be seen in Clyde's entrance and bar areas. Murals are painted on exposed brick walls. We like to think the construction and workmanship are great, but the real show belongs to the unique antique light fixtures, old movie posters, pin ball coffee tables, and hand-picked decorations selected by Taylor Monen and her sister Tinsley Mayfield. Especially interesting are the framed photos of celebrities playing table tennis that line the walls near the restrooms. Be sure to spend a little time in the restrooms looking at the collage wall coverings created and hung by the owners.

Up next for the Monens is the much anticipated Milk and Honey in the Gulch. Construction is expected to begin in July. Design for Clyde's on Church and Milk and Honey is by Cogent Studio in Chattanooga.
